Future Urban Development Area Planning for the City of Verona

Monday, March 15

6:30 p.m.

Verona Public Library
500 Silent St. Verona WI

Share your experience and opinions on how Verona will respond to growth and its future place in the region.

Participate in the Future Urban Development Area planning process, and utilize tools available through the Capital Area Regional Planning Commission to create a regional growth plan for the City of Verona.

Topics will include:

- Past and Current City Economic Development Efforts
Bruce Sylvester, City of Verona
- A Waterfront of Strategies for Community Economic Development
Steven Deller & Matt Kures, UW-Extension
- Property Tax 101 – financial footing
Bridgit Van Belleghem, CARPC
- Dare to be dense
Citizens exercise – Small groups layout neighborhood designs

As the regional planning agency for Dane County, the CARPC has developed a Future Urban Development Area (FUDA) planning process that will help guide future Dane County urban growth patterns. We are seeking the input of Verona residents, business owners and its rural neighbors as the City of Verona participates as a pilot community for the process.

Sponsored by The Capital Area Regional Planning Commission and the City of Verona
